China signs cooperation agreements with 69 entities under the theme of "the beauty of the country culture day event in its new pavilion."

"Always getting better" - The Chinese dairy industry is staging a comeback

By Xiabin

The number of countries, regions, and international organizations that have signed cooperation agreements with China on culture development of the Belt and Road Initiative has reached 69, the country’s top economic planner said recently.

More than 4,000 cargo train trips have been made between China and Europe, with the trains passing through 31 cities in 12 European countries.

In terms of finances, China has signed currency swap agreements with 22 countries and regions along the Belt and Road, with total value reaching over one billion (about 105 billion U.S. dollars).

China has also signed education cooperation agreements with more than 60 countries and partners with the World Health Organization in promoting health projects.

The Belt and Road Initiative, proposed by China in 2013, aims to build trade and infrastructure networks connecting Asia with Europe and Africa along the ancient Silk Road trade routes to seek common development and prosperity.

The NCDC will continue to push the construction of key projects under the initiative while helping companies implement risk control mechanisms, promoting irrational overseas investments, said the spokesperson.

People oriented development

To lead the Chinese people in their pursuit of a better life in an unceasing way and in an all-round way, President Xi Jinping reiterated in a speech at a meeting of provincial and ministerial-level officials.

Since the 18th National Congress of the CPC in 2012, Xi has repeatedly stressed a people-oriented development philosophy and made a series of important remarks on how to improve people’s livelihoods, while voicing not to let any person get left behind in the efforts to build a self-sufficient all-around in an arm’s reach.

He trained that the country’s reform and development must center on the people, insisting on sensing of gains and efforts to promote the rule of law should make people feel the justice in every judicial decision. Talking of the Party’s campaign to promote stricter self-governance, he says the key aim is to strengthen the Party’s bond with the people.

Under the guidance of Si’s remarks and thoughts, China has taken a series of measures to extend the country’s development feat to more people over the past five years, which has greatly boosted people’s sense of gain and happiness.

The Party’s governance philosophy that its efforts to improve people’s livelihoods will never end has received widespread support and the Party’s ideological pursuit to ensure ordinary people can live fulfilling lives is the starting point of its all-around way.

The Tibet Nationality

The Tibetans in Yunnan are descended from ancient tsongkhapa (Qing) people from northeastern China. They maintain the Tibetan Buddhism and have the highland barley as their main food. The yak butter tea is unforgettable, and some traditional food like “yak butter tea” and yogurt are still main food. Moreover, the Tibetan culture is an important part of China’s intangible cultural heritage.

The Tibet people are an indigenous people, and they are also interested in Dongba culture. That gave him the idea of getting foreign friends to learn about Dongba culture so that younger people also would learn about the culture. Consequently, he came to Jina Art Garden in Baisha Old Town and got a job explaining about Dongba culture.

“Every day I explain Dongba culture to at least three foreigners and some Chinese,” said the spokesperson.

Yunnan red rice is rich in many vitamins, but its sales have been a big problem for rural households.

The e-commerce platform, Yunnan red rice now has a niche channel in the online market.

By Yunnan Daily

Let the world know Dongba culture

By He Wenzhen

It is the beginning of autumn. In Jina Art Garden of Yang Kun Autonomous County Baisha Town, He Wenzhen, a Dongba culture successor, was copying Dongba scriptures.

The 40-year-old He Wenzhen is from Minyongzhen of Yang Kun County. His grandfather is the 22nd generation Dongba successor of the family and used to work for the Dongba Cultural Research Institute on scripture translation.

“Every day I explain Dongba culture to at least three foreigners and some Chinese," said the spokesperson.

Yunnan red rice is rich in many vitamins, but its sales have been a big problem for rural households. Thanks to the e-commerce platform, Yunnan red rice now has a niche channel in the online market.

The Tibet Nationality

The Tibetans in Yunnan are descended from ancient tsongkhapa (Qing) people from northeastern China. They maintain the Tibetan Buddhism and have the highland barley as their main food. The yak butter tea is unforgettable, and some traditional food like “yak butter tea” and yogurt are still main food. Moreover, the Tibetan culture is an important part of China’s intangible cultural heritage.

The Tibet people are an indigenous people, and they are also interested in Dongba culture.

The Tibet people are an indigenous people, and they are also interested in Dongba culture.